It doesn't matter with whom you come.
You are @ll welcomed.

Welcoming destination.

The Valencia Region is a land where all people are welcomed. Friendly, open-minded, welcoming, and tolerant people are the reasons why the Valencia Region is a land where the LGBTQ+ community is welcomed.

In Valencia you can enjoy the freedom of spacious beaches, natural areas or hidden coves: “Pinedo” or “Saler” in Valencia; “Saladar” or “Rebollo” in Alicante among others, some of them awarded the Blue Flag. On the other hand, the cultural offer of the Region can satisfy all tastes. From traditional museums like “St. Pius V” or modern museums such as the “IVAM” in Valencia or the “Espai d’Art Contemporani” in Castellón de la Plana or “MARQ” and “MUBAG” in Alicante are all landmarks in the cultural and leisure offer of the 21st century; the City of Arts and Sciences of Valencia and the “Palau de les Arts Reina Sofia”, which in its opera season, offers a selection of the best works on the international scene.

As for the cuisine, more than 20 of the Valencian restaurants have a Michelin-star and so they offer an incredible variety of rice recipes and all kinds of natural ingredients that make up the essence of the Mediterranean diet. And what about shopping? Major fashion stores and the warm traditional markets go hand in hand in towns and cities. In addition, the traveler will find, alongside national and international brands and those of the Valencian designers who have entered the forefront of fashion.

It is well known the intense nightlife that Valencia Region offers to visitors: enjoying the night is easy thanks to the wide range of pubs, clubs and shows that there are both exclusive and friendly LGBTQ+ venues. Hand in hand with an enviable climate, boardwalks, ports and terraces ensure for most of the year a fantastic atmosphere.

Wide beaches, intimate coves, a recognized and valued worldwide cuisine, a cultural offering with unique places visited by thousands each year, traditional shops and boutiques with the latest trends, a spectacular nightlife ...The Valencia Region has leisure opportunities for everyone.

Welcoming destination.
